

ISN Membership Advancing kidney health worldwide. Together.

1960-2020

ISN membership is an essential resource for you and kidney health everywhere.

As an ISN member, you are an active participant in the worldwide kidney health community.

The International Society of Nephrology (ISN) is dedicated to building a future where all people have equitable access to sustainable kidney health. ISN members are healthcare professionals who volunteer their time and expertise to advance the understanding, prevention, and treatment of kidney disease worldwide.

- ISN brings together professionals from the field of kidney healthcare from over 165 countries.
- Collaborating with over 100 national and regional societies, and other stakeholders who share our goals,
- ISN reaches more than 40,000 healthcare professionals globally.

Guided by its focus on Capacity Building, Advocacy and Research, ISN works with and for members worldwide to provide education, training, and professional development; coordinate and advance research; share scientific knowledge; and, advocate for the prevention and treatment of kidney disease.

As a global network, ISN works as an efficient platform for timely scientific exchange, debate, and communications and unites the diverse kidney health community on and across all continents.

ISN is the only kidney association in the world to be recognized as a non-state actor by the World Health Organization (WHO) helping to shape relevant health policies, practices, and infrastructure.
